

FRIDAY EVENING: TONE IV
AT VESPERS

On “Lord, I have cried ...”, these Stichera of the Saints, in Tone IV:

Spec. Mel.: “Thou hast given a sign... ”:

Verse: If Thou shouldest mark iniquities, O Lord, O Lord, who shall stand? * For with Thee there is forgiveness.

Emulating the sufferings of Christ, the Lover of mankind, O passion-bearers, ye gave your bodies over to wounds, and bitter torments, and innumerable pangs, ever looking forward to the divine delight of paradise, to ever-abundant sustenance and everlasting glory; and having received this, ye pray for those who hymn you.

Verse: For Thy name’s sake have I patiently waited for Thee, O Lord; my soul hath waited patiently for Thy word, * my soul hath hoped in the Lord.

Repeat: Emulating the sufferings of Christ ...,

Verse: From the morning watch until night, from the morning watch * let Israel hope in the Lord.

O most sacred pastors, as glorious emulators of Christ, the Chief Shepherd, the King of all, ye readily laid down your lives for the sheep, and endured grievous misfortunes, O right blessed ones; and as champions ye save the divinely chosen flock unharmed by cruel wolves.

Then, these other Stichera, of the martyrs, in the same melody:

Verse: For with the Lord there is mercy, and with Him there is plenteous redemption; * and He shall redeem Israel out of all his iniquities.

O ye martyrs of the Lord, living sacrifices, noetic burnt-offerings, perfect offerings to God, lambs who knew God and are known by Him, whose fold no wolf can enter: Pray ye that with you we may also feed beside the waters of rest.

Verse: O praise the Lord, all ye nations; * praise Him, all ye peoples.

Precious is the death of Thy saints, O Lord. Slain by the sword, and by fire and freezing cold, they poured forth their blood, placing all their hope in Thee that from Thy hand they would receive the reward of their labors. They endured to the end and received from Thee O Savior, Thy great mercy.

Verse: For He hath made His mercy to prevail over us, * and the truth of the Lord abideth forever.

O saints, since ye have boldness in the presence of the Savior, unceasingly entreat Him for us sinners, asking that remission of sins, and great mercy, be granted to our souls.

Glory ..., Now & ever ..., Dogmatic Theotokion:

Prophet David, the ancestor of God, * spoke of thee in psalmody unto Him who hath accomplished great things in thee. * For God was well pleased without father to become a man from thee, * the Queen who standeth at His right hand, * and He - the source of life - showed thee to be His mother, * that he might renew his own image, corrupted by the passions. * Having found the lost sheep wandering on the mountain * He hath laid it upon his shoulders, * that he may bring it to his Father; * and in accordance with his own will * unite it to the heavenly Powers * and thus, O Theotokos, save the world,  Christ, who is richly and abundantly merciful.

Then, “O Joyous Light ...”, the Prokeimenon in Tone VII:

Prokeimenon: O God, my helper art Thou, * and Thy mercy shall go before me.

Verse: Rescue me from mine enemies, O God, and from them that rise up against me redeem me.

Vouchsafe, O Lord ..., Litany: Let us complete ..., Then:

On the Aposticha, these Stichera, in Tone IV:

To the Martyrs: Thou art glorified in the memorials of Thy saints, O Christ our God; by their intercessions send down upon us great mercy.

Verse: Blessed are they whom Thou hast chosen * and taken to Thyself, O Lord.

To the Martyrs: O Thou Who hast accepted the patient endurance of the holy martyrs; in Thy love for mankind do Thou accept our hymns of praise, and by their intercessions send down upon us great mercy.

Verse: Their souls * shall dwell among good things.

For the reposed: With the souls of the righteous who have reposed, O Savior, grant rest to the souls of Thy departed servants, preserving them in the life of blessedness which is in Thee, O Lover of mankind.

Glory ..., Now & ever ..., Theotokion:

O thou inextinguishable lamp, * and throne of righteousness * most pure Sovereign Lady:  pray thou that our souls be saved.

Then, “Now lettest Thou Thy servant depart ...”, Trisagion through Our Father ..., Troparia. Litany: Have mercy on us ..., and Dismissal.

FRIDAY NIGHT: TONE IV
AT COMPLINE

Canon of Supplication to the Most Holy Theotokos

ODE I

Irmos: O Thou who wast born of the Virgin, * drown I implore Thee, in the depth of dispassion * the triune nature of my soul, * as Thou didst the mighty strongholds of the warriors, * that in the mortality of my flesh * as on a timbrel * I may chant a hymn of victory.

From the mire of the passions, from the threefold billows of wicked thoughts, from the darts of the evil one, and from, every assault of the adversary, deliver my wretched soul, O most pure Birthgiver of God, and rescue me from everlasting fire.

Lead me up from the abyss of transgressions, O pure one, and guide me to the light of the divine commandments of Christ God our Savior; shine forth upon me the saving radiance of repentance, and grant me eternal life.

Glory ..., Having fallen into the evil mire of my wicked deeds, I am choked greatly on mine evils, and I find no firm place whereon to stand, O Virgin Lady and Mother, lead me up by thy power, and deliver me from fire and torment.

Now & ever ..., Thou hast destroyed death and corruption, O all-hymned Theotokos, having given birth to Christ, the Wellspring of incorruption, Who hath adorned human nature with immortality and grace, O most immaculate one.

ODE III

Irmos: Not in wisdom, nor in power do we glory, * but we glory in Thee O Christ, * the Hypostatic Wisdom of the Father, * for there is none more holy than Thee, O Lover of mankind.

Having been made manifest, O pure Virgin, take the darkness away from, my soul, break asunder the bonds of sin, and save me by thine assistance, I pray.

My heart, which hath been whirled about by the assaults of the passions, do thou make steadfast in the most pure fear of God, O most immaculate Virgin, by thy loving-kindness.

Glory ..., Despairing of any hope, O most immaculate one, I have fled to thee as my mighty preservation and shelter. Wherefore, take not away from me thy divine protection.

Now & ever ..., Arrayed like a queen in robes inwrought with gold, O Lady, thou standest now at the right hand of God, praying for thy servants.

ODE IV

Irmos: He who sitteth in glory upon the throne of the Godhead, * Jesus the true God, * is come in a swift cloud * and with His sinless hands he hath saved those who cry: * Glory to Thy power, O Christ.

O divinely blessed Maiden, free me who am held fast by despondency, am wholly darkened by the gloom of the passions, and am enslaved to sin; and join me to thy Son and our God.

In that thou hast given birth to Life, O most immaculate one, give life to me who have been slain by the malice of the deceiver; for to thee have I fled. Lead me up who have been engulfed by abysmal falls, in that thou art merciful, O all-immaculate one.

Glory ..., I lie in the tomb of mine unseemly pleasures, and am held fast by despondency and slothfulness. Yet, O good one who hast given birth to the Resurrection of all, enliven and save me!

Now & ever ..., O of old, O Virgin, the prophet called thee the sacred mountain of God, wholly overshadowed by the virtues, from whence the saving Word appeared, unto the edification and enlightenment of our souls.

ODE V

Irmos: The wicked will not behold Thy glory, O Christ, * but we who rise early to hymn Thee shall behold Thee, * the Only-Begotten effulgence of Thy Father's divinity, * O Lover of mankind.

May my lowly soul rejoice to fear thy Son, O Lady, and to carry out His commandments with, a willing heart. O all-immaculate and most pure one, guide me by thy supplications.

O good Lady, grant that my passion-plagued soul may confess the Redeemer with all my heart, dispelling the ignorance of my heart, O all-immaculate one.

Glory ..., Keep thou my soul as the apple of thine eye under the shelter of thy wings, O good and most pure one, and deliver it from the oppression and tyranny of the evil spirits.

Now & ever ..., O most pure one, thou hast appeared, delivering from the assaults of the passions and the evil demons thy servant who hath acquired thee as a mighty ally and unashamed intercessor.

ODE VI

Irmos: Prefiguring Thy three-day burial * Prophet Jonah praying in the belly of the sea-monster cried aloud: * Deliver me from corruption * O Jesus Thou King of hosts.

Cast down those who ever wage war upon me, O Lady, and dispel the clouds of mine evil thoughts, O Mother of God who art the portal of the Sun of righteousness.

Shine upon me the radiance of repentance, O Lady, and break through the clouds of mine evil thoughts, for I have been attracted and corrupted by grievous corruption.

Glory ..., Still thou the raging billows of my passions and quell the storm of mine evil thoughts, O most immaculate one, thou steadfast intercessor and protection of all.

Now & ever ..., The transgressions of my soul have multiplied more than the sand of the sea, and like a heavy burden they crush me; yet, taking pity, O Virgin, save me before the end.

Lord, have mercy, (Thrice).

Glory ..., Now & ever ..., Sessional hymn, in Tone IV:

We, the faithful, bless thee as the Theotokos, our helper and fervent aid amid misfortunes, our reconciliation with God, by whom we have been delivered from corruption.

ODE VII

Irmos: Of old the Children of Abraham in Babylon * trampled down the flame of the furnace, * crying aloud with hymns: * O God of our Fathers, blessed art Thou.

O pure Theotokos, I call upon thee with faith: Keep safe my lowly heart, and deliver me from the flame of torment and everlasting darkness.

With, the spear of thy Son, O pure Virgin, rend asunder the record of my transgressions, and deliver me, I pray, from all restraint at the hour of mine end.

Glory ..., With the streams of my tears and the down-pouring of thy compassions, O pure Virgin, quench thou the furnace which the multitude of mine evils have prepared for me through the activity of the demons.

Now & ever ..., From the temptations which assail us and from every torment. O thou who alone art the Ever-virgin Mother of the Word, do thou deliver us who truly hymn thee with understanding throughout all ages.

ODE VIII

Irmos: O almighty Redeemer of all, * having descended and bedewed the children * in the midst of the flame, * Thou didst teach them to sing: * All ye works bless and hymn the Lord.

Heal thou my ailing soul, O Theotokos, Virgin Bride of God; illumine my darkened mind, and rescue me from fire and the indescribable and everlasting torments.

Bent beneath the weight of irrational passions, I have fallen into the abyss of destruction and have made myself fuel for the flame; yet do thou deliver me, thy servant, from thence, O Virgin Theotokos.

Glory ..., Dry up the depths of mine evils, O thou who hast given birth to the Abyss of loving-kindness, the Redeemer and Lord, and before the end loose thou the bonds of mine evils, O thou who hast given birth to the Savior of all.

Now & ever ..., The Lord Who became incarnate through thy womb, He Who hath dominion over all creation, showed thee, O Virgin, to be the Sovereign Lady who reigns over all creatures, visible and invisible, glorifying thee as His immaculate Mother.

ODE IX

Irmos: Eve dwelt under the curse of sin * because of the infirmity of disobedience; * but thou, O Virgin Theotokos, * hast through the Offspring of thy pregnancy * blossomed forth blessing upon the world. * Wherefore, we all magnify thee.

My heart, which is barren of divine virtues, O most pure Virgin Theotokos, do thou show forth as fruitful, in that thou wast born from a barren woman at the command of, and by the will of, Him Who transformeth all things: that I may hymn thee, the all-hymned one.

With thy light illumine me, O most immaculate one, for thou hast given birth to the unapproachable Light; burn away the clouds of my passions, rescue me from the darkness devoid of light, and grant unto me divine light, that I may hymn thee, O Virgin Mother.

Glory ..., With the sprinkling of thy compassions, O pure one, cleanse my putrid heart, and grant that I may ever shed my tears in streams, and cutting off the torrents of the passions, may I be delivered from torment.

Now & ever ..., O right loving Theotokos who hast given birth to the right loving God, do thou now quickly free me from wicked carnal love, that I, who am perishing through slothfulness, may serve the will of God, O Lady.

Then, "It is truly meet ...," and a prostration. Trisagion through Our Father ..., Troparia, and the rest as usual. Dismissal.

Glory ..., Now & ever ..., Theotokion:

The mystery hidden from all ages * and unknown to the ranks of Angels, * hath been revealed to those on earth through thee, O Theotokos: * God incarnate in an uncommingled union, * Who willingly accepted the Cross for our sake, * and through it hath raised up the first-formed man,  and saved our souls from death.

Be Thou well-pleased to withdraw the flaming sword, O Master, that Thy servants who have reposed may partake of the tree of life.

Who is not filled with wonder, O holy martyrs, at beholding the good fight that ye have fought? For armed with the Cross and in the body confessing Christ, ye defeated the bodiless adversary; wherefore, as is meet, ye have been shown to be expellers of demons, and opponents of the barbarians, ever interceding that our souls be saved.

Verse: Praise Him with the sound of trumpet, * praise Him with the psaltery and harp.

O holy martyrs, ye have become companions of the angels, bravely preaching Christ at the tribunal; for having forsaken all the beautiful things of this world, as though they did not exist, ye held fast to the faith as your steadfast hope. Wherefore, putting deception to flight, ye pour forth gifts of healing upon the faithful, ever interceding that our souls be saved.

Verse: Praise Him with timbrel and dance, * praise him with strings and flute.

How shall we not marvel at your struggles, O holy martyrs? For, clothed in mortal bodies, ye vanquished the incorporeal enemies; the threats of tyrants roused no fear in you; neither did the infliction of tortures, fill you with fear. Therefore, as is meet, ye have been truly glorified by Christ, ask ye great mercy for our souls.

Verse: Praise Him with tuneful cymbals, praise Him with cymbals of jubilation. * Let every breath praise the Lord.

Precious is the death of Thy saints, O Lord. Slain by the sword, and by fire and freezing cold, they poured forth their blood, placing all their hope in Thee that from Thy hand they would receive the reward of their labors. They endured to the end and received from Thee O Savior, Thy great mercy.

For the reposed: In a place of rest with Thee, O Lord, where all Thy saints repose, grant rest to Thy servants, for Thou alone art the Lover of mankind.

Glory ...,

Where is the passionate attraction of the world? Where is the illusion of transitory things? Where is the gold and silver? Where are the multitude of servants and their clamor? All is dust, all is ashes, all is but a shadow. Come ye, and let us cry aloud to Christ Who is immortal: O Lord, grant Thine eternal good things unto those who have departed from us, granting them rest in Thy blessedness which waxeth not old.

Now & ever ..., Theotokion:

O only pure and most pure Virgin, who hast given birth without seed unto God: Pray thou that our souls be saved.

On the Aposticha, the Stichera of the departed, in Tone IV:

Spec. Mel.: "Thou hast given a sign ...":

Truly awesome is the mystery of death. How the soul is separated from the body, and this harmony and union is broken, and severed by the will of God. Wherefore we entreat Thee: In the dwellings of Thy righteous grant rest to those who have departed unto Thee, O Bestower of life, and Lover of mankind.

Verse: Blessed are they whom Thou hast chosen * and taken to Thyself, O Lord.

For those who believe in Thee, death is but a dream; for when Thou, the Master of all, wast laid in the tomb, Thou didst destroy the power of death, abolishing its ancient dominion. Wherefore we entreat Thee: Those who have departed unto Thee do Thou grant to dwell in the joy of Thy saints and the splendor of the just..

Verse: Their souls * shall dwell among good things.

Thou hast become our righteousness and sanctification, and the redemption of our souls. For Thou didst lead us justified and redeemed unto the Father, taking upon Thyself the punishment and debt due from us. And now we entreat Thee: Grant rest to the departed in the joy and radiance of Thy saints, O our Benefactor and Lover of mankind.

Glory ..., Now & ever ...,

Theotokion: Following, the words of the divinely eloquent prophets, O all-immaculate One, we believe thee to be the Theotokos. For thou didst ineffably give birth to God in the flesh, Who hath delivered us from the bondage of sin. Ever beseech Him, that He illumine thy departed servants with the radiance of His Light.

Then, “It is good to give thanks ...,” Trisagion ..., Our Father ..., Troparia.

Litany: Have mercy on us ..., First Hour, and Dismissal.

ON SATURDAY MORNING: TONE IV AT LITURGY

On the Beatitudes, these Troparia, in Tone IV:

Of old Adam was banished From paradise through the tree, but by the tree of the Cross the thief hath come to dwell in paradise: the one by tasting rejected the commandment of the Creator, but the other, crucified with Christ, confessed the hidden God, crying out: Remember me in Thy kingdom!

Afire with the love of Christ, O holy martyrs, with the dew of your struggles ye quenched the fire of ungodliness; and ye were shown to be greatly radiant lamps of the Church, driving the darkness of infirmities and tribulations from our souls by your goodness; wherefore, we praise you as is meet.

O sacred hierarchs, ye divine company of the prophets, ye choir of the venerable, ye sole procession of holy women, who pleased God with virtuous acts and have been glorified: We bless you, praying through your supplications, that we may receive enlightenment and life everlasting.

For the reposed: Where Thy light shineth, and where the choirs of the saints rejoice, whence sighing and pain have fled, do Thou number Thy servants, who have reposed in times past and departed this most painful life, O Christ, that they may hymn Thine ineffable goodness; and overlook the transgressions they committed on earth.

Glory ..., O indivisible Trinity, Who art worshipped in the Father, the Son and the Spirit, O Unity of three Hypostases, united in every way though with uncommingled characteristics: By the supplications of Thy holy martyrs, the fathers and the honorable prophets, grant rest unto those who have died in the Faith, and grant purification to their souls.

Now & ever ..., Thou didst conceive the Word Whom the Father begot before the morning-star, and hast given birth, to Him in the flesh as a perfect man, known in two activities and wills, O most pure one. Wherefore, entreat Him as the Creator and Lord, that He have pity on us who hymn thee, O Maiden Bride of God.
